

ABSTRACT

Novel monoaminofluorene compounds are provided, and organic light-emitting devices which exhibit good luminescence hue of extremely high purity and have optical output with high luminescence efficiency, high luminance and longer operating life are provided using the compounds. The monoaminofluorene compound represented by the following general formula [1]:

